- b) You agree that funds deposited to your AUD Cash Balance may not be available for withdrawal for 3 business days or until the funds have cleared, excluding deposits resulting from the sale of securities or the receipt of cash dividends. After this time, the funds may be withdrawn by you to your nominated bank Account.

Where either your nominated bank Account or Selfwealth trading Account is in joint names, the other Account must match one or both of those names.
- d) Selfwealth is not entitled to withdraw any amounts from your Cash Balance in the Trust Account, except in accordance with a direction from you, including any standing directions given by you under these Terms or otherwise given by you to Selfwealth from time to time. Selfwealth represents that, as any amounts held by Selfwealth in the Trust Account are held on bare trust for Investors, they would not be available to Selfwealth's creditors, in the event of Selfwealth's insolvency or otherwise.

- e) The Trust Account cannot be used by you for any purpose other than the Australian Trade Service in accordance with these Terms. Amounts can be deposited into the Trust Account only by electronic transfer and not by visiting an ANZ branch.

- g) Selfwealth may retain interest earned on your Cash Balance that is paid by ANZ. However, you acknowledge that Selfwealth reserves the right to take no action in relation to any Corporate Action where it is not reasonably practicable to do so, such as receiving an invalid or incomplete instruction or where the issue has been closed or there is insufficient time to submit the instruction by the deadline. When certain Corporate Action events occur, your Securities may be altered and, as a result, we or the Broker are permitted to amend or purge any open orders or restrict your ability to deal in Securities or make other adjustments to your Account, or take other actions on your behalf, after the Corporate Action event has occurred, as may be reasonably necessary. We are not required to provide you with prior notice of us or the Broker exercising these rights.

12. Advanced Orders

- a) IMPORTANT – The placement of contingent and/or conditional orders by you, such as “stop-loss” or “stop limit” orders, will not necessarily limit your losses, nor may they be filled as intended by you as market conditions or technological issues (including the unavailability of the conditional or contingent function because of technology failure) may make it impossible to execute such orders.
- b) Neither the Broker or Selfwealth guarantee that any contingent or conditional order placed by you will be executed as you intend, or at all, or that the conditional or contingent order technology will always be available to you.
- c) Neither the Broker or Selfwealth accepts any responsibility for losses as a result of the unavailability of the conditional or contingent order technology, or losses as a result of any conditional or contingent order placed by you that does not trade or fill as intended by your instruction, except to the extent contributed to by our gross negligence, criminal conduct, fraud or wilful misconduct.

except to the extent that any Loss, damage, Claim, cost or expense arises from our gross negligence, criminal conduct, fraud, wilful default or wilful misconduct.

- j) You acknowledge and agree that Selfwealth may appoint one or more International Brokers as we deem appropriate for the purpose of providing the International Trade Service, including switching from one International Broker to another as may be determined from time to time by Selfwealth in its sole discretion. Pursuant to the change, you may be required to agree to new terms and conditions of the new International Broker. Where necessary, Selfwealth may transfer your relevant International Portfolio Holdings from the existing International Broker to such new International Broker, terminate your agreement with any International Broker, and take all necessary steps to effect the switch in International Broker.

15. Corporate Actions

- a) You are responsible for understanding the terms, impacts and actions required in relation to any Corporate Action event and for taking the necessary steps to seek further information or advice from the relevant issuer, share registry or a financial adviser.
- b) You acknowledge Selfwealth is not obligated and may not advise you of Corporate Actions of any security which may be relevant to your Portfolio and you will not hold Selfwealth liable for any matter in relation to any Corporate Action, unless contributed to by our gross negligence, criminal conduct, fraud or wilful misconduct.
- c) If you wish to take action with regard to a Corporate Action then you may contact Selfwealth who may pass on your instructions to the Broker for actioning subject to the Broker Terms and Conditions. However, you acknowledge that Selfwealth reserves the right to take no action in relation to any Corporate Action where it is not reasonably practicable to do so, such as receiving an invalid or incomplete instruction or where the issue has been closed or there is insufficient time to submit the instruction by the deadline. When certain Corporate Action events occur, your Securities may be altered and, as a result, we or the Broker are permitted to amend or purge any open orders or restrict your ability to deal in Securities or make other adjustments to your Account, or take other actions on your behalf, after the Corporate Action event has occurred, as may be reasonably necessary. We are not required to provide you with prior notice of us or the Broker exercising these rights.

- d) You authorise Selfwealth and/or the Broker to take other actions, on your behalf, we consider reasonably necessary to prevent any settlement failures or other irregularities in connection with a Corporate Action, including buying back securities, correcting holding, adjusting cash balances and adjusting holdings.
- e) Odd lot holdings are not supported on the Hong Kong securities exchange (HKEX). As such, the International Broker shall proceed to sell any odd lot balance you receive due to a Corporate Action. If an odd lot is sold on your behalf, you will receive confirmation of the trade and net proceeds will be credited to your International Cash Balance.

16. International Trade Service Instructions

- a) Selfwealth will act as agent solely within the parameters of your instructions received through any of the International Trade Service.
- b) Selfwealth may assume the authenticity of any instructions given or purportedly given through the International Trade Service by you or any person claiming to be your representative. Selfwealth is not obliged to enquire into any authenticity of instructions received through any International Trade Service and you authorise Selfwealth to act upon any instructions it reasonably believes to be authentic.
- c) Selfwealth reserves the right at all times to decline to accept your instructions through the International Trade Service without prior notice where:
 - i) your instructions are ambiguous, incomplete or unclear;
 - ii) your instructions would result in a breach of the law;
 - iii) your instructions would result in a breach of the relevant exchange rules;
 - iv) it is not possible to place an order on the market;
 - v) the security may be too thinly traded; or
 - vi) the security is subject to a trading halt.
- d) Selfwealth will inform you of any instructions declined in accordance with clause 15(c) as soon as reasonably practicable.

17. Order Types

- a) Not all Order Types may be available across all markets, and some Order Types may not be available or offered on some exchanges.
- b) You agree to familiarise yourself with the available order types before commencing to trade on any of the Trade Services.

18. Advanced Orders

- a) IMPORTANT – The placement of contingent / conditional orders by you, such as “stop-loss” or “stop limit” orders, will not necessarily limit your losses, nor may the order be filled as intended by your instruction as market conditions or technological issues (including the unavailability of the conditional or contingent function because of technology failure) may make it impossible to execute such orders.
- b) Neither the International Broker or Selfwealth guarantee that any contingent or conditional order placed by you will be executed as you intend, or at all, or that the conditional or contingent order technology will always be available to you.
- c) Neither the International Broker or Selfwealth accepts any responsibility for losses as a result of the unavailability of the conditional or contingent order technology, or losses as a result of any conditional or contingent order placed by you that does not trade or fill as intended by your instruction, except to the extent contributed to by our gross negligence, criminal conduct, fraud or wilful misconduct.
- d) You agree that any conditional or contingent order placed by you is subject to the International Broker’s Terms and Conditions and Selfwealth’s Terms and Conditions.
- e) Once a condition is triggered, your order may be immediately filled, possibly at a price unfavourable to your original condition, and you agree it is not possible to cancel the executed order, regardless of the subsequent price action.

19. Responsibility for International Trade Service

- a) You acknowledge and agree that:
- i) in addition to being bound by these Terms, you are bound by the International Broker’s Terms and Conditions when using any International Trade Service;
- ii) you authorise the International Broker to provide information about your Portfolio to Selfwealth;
- iii) Selfwealth does not recommend or endorse any International Available Investments, and Selfwealth assumes no responsibility or liability in relation to the quality of such investments;
- iv) it is your responsibility to assess and research each International Trade and International Available Investment and determine its suitability for your purposes; and
- v) you may incur additional costs (for example local stamp duties or commissions) for trades on certain international securities exchanges. These costs will be explained in the International Broker Terms and Conditions of the International Broker on the particular international exchange you will be trading and may be in addition to the fees outlined in the schedule of fees of our Financial Services Guide.

- b) To the greatest extent permissible by law, unless contributed to by our gross negligence, criminal conduct, fraud or wilful misconduct, you further acknowledge and agree that Selfwealth is not responsible (whether in contract, tort or otherwise) for any loss or damage caused or suffered by you to the extent that the loss or damage results from:
- i) any defect in Selfwealth's computer systems that is beyond our reasonable control;
 - ii) any delay, fault, failure in or loss of access to an International Trade Service;
 - iii) an instruction from you to cancel or amend an order not being received and processed prior to your original order being filled. In these circumstances, you will accept the transaction on the original terms;
 - iv) telecommunications failure, delay, or interruption of or defective network or internet connections or services by a third party, including any defect in the Selfwealth Account or the International Broker's computer systems;
 - v) your incorrect operation of the International Trade Service;
 - vi) inaccuracy, error or omission in any material, data or information provided by you or any other third party through the International Trade Service;
 - vii) actions of third parties in respect of the International Trade Service including any of the International Brokers or other Service Providers; or
 - viii) any delay, interruption, omission, failure, error or fault in the execution of your instructions provided through the International Trade Service, except to the extent that any Loss, damage, Claim, cost or expense arises from our gross negligence, criminal conduct, fraud, wilful default or wilful misconduct.

20. Extended Hours Trading Risk Disclosure (U.S securities markets only)

- a) You should consider the following points before engaging in extended hours trading on a U.S securities market exchange:
- i) "Extended hours trading" means trading outside of "regular trading hours." "Regular trading hours" generally means the time between 9:30 a.m. and 4:00 p.m. (United States of America) Eastern Standard Time.
 - ii) Risk of Lower Liquidity. Liquidity refers to the ability of market participants to buy and sell securities. Generally, the more orders that are available in a market, the greater the liquidity. Liquidity is important because with greater liquidity, it is easier for investors to buy or sell securities, and as a result, investors are more likely to pay or receive a competitive price for securities purchased or sold. There may be lower liquidity in extended hours trading as compared to regular trading hours. As a result, your order may only be partially executed, or not at all.

- iii) Risk of Higher Price Volatility. Volatility refers to the fluctuations in price that securities undergo when trading. Generally, the higher the volatility of a security, the greater the fluctuation in price. There may be greater volatility in extended hours trading than in regular trading hours. As a result, your order may only be partially executed, or not at all, or you may receive an inferior price when engaging in extended hours trading than you would during regular trading hours.
- iv) Risk of Changing Prices. The prices of securities traded in extended hours trading may not reflect the prices either at the end of regular trading hours, or upon the opening the next morning. As a result, you may receive an inferior price when engaging in extended hours trading than you would during regular trading hours.
- v) Risk of Unlinked Markets. Depending on the extended hours trading system or the time of day, the prices displayed on a particular extended hours trading system may not reflect the prices in other concurrently operating extended hours trading systems dealing in the same securities. Accordingly, you may receive an inferior price in one extended hours trading system than you would in another extended hours trading system.
- vi) Risk of News Announcements. Normally, issuers make news announcements that may affect the price of their securities after regular trading hours. Similarly, important financial information is frequently announced outside of regular trading hours. In extended hours trading, these announcements may occur during trading, and if combined with lower liquidity and higher volatility, may cause an exaggerated and unsustainable effect on the price of a security.
- vii) Risk of Wider Spreads. The spread refers to the difference in price between what you can buy a security for and what you can sell it for. Lower liquidity and higher volatility in extended hours trading may result in wider than normal spreads for a particular security.

21. Board Lots and Odd Lots (on the HK Securities Exchange only)

- a) You should consider the following points before engaging in trading on the Hong Kong securities market exchange (HKEX):
 - i) The term "board lot" is commonly used in Hong Kong's securities market to refer to a trading unit. While board lots are standardised on many exchanges at 100 shares, on the HKEX, it is determined by the issuer of the security and as such 'board lots' may be of differing sizes.
 - ii) It is your responsibility to check the board lot size of a security before trading in the security and to remain aware of the board lot size for the securities you are trading, always.
- b) Securities of less than one trading unit (i.e. one board lot) is commonly known as an odd lot in Hong Kong. Odd lots are not accepted by the Hong Kong Exchange's trading system for auto-matching, but there is a special lot market in the system for odd lots trading. Your International Broker may post their odd lot orders onto a designated screen on the trading system for matching by other Brokers.
- c) It may be the case that the share prices quoted for odd lots will be less favourable than prices in board lot amounts in the same security, due to the reduced liquidity in the odd lot market.

22. Termination of Self-Directed Trade Service

In addition to termination under clause 43, your access to the Australian Trade Service or the International Trade Service will terminate automatically where your Account with the Broker or International Broker, as applicable, is terminated.

- i) Where we have restricted or suspend your access to the International Trade Service for a suspected material breach of these Terms, if you can demonstrate at any time during the investigation period that this suspected breach has been cured (to our reasonable satisfaction), we will remove the restriction as soon as practicable, up to a maximum of 5 business days.
- j) Selfwealth's International Broker may not offer pre-market, or after-hours market services on some or all exchanges, however where services are available, you agree to the conditions and to operating within the parameters set by the Securities Exchange in relation to pre-market or after-hours trading, which may vary considerably from time to time, and with little or no notice.
- k) You acknowledge and agree that Selfwealth may appoint one or more International Brokers as we deem appropriate for the purpose of providing the International Trade Service, including switching from one International Broker to another as may be determined from time to time by Selfwealth in its sole discretion. Pursuant to the change, you may be required to agree to new terms and conditions of the new International Broker. - b) You acknowledge Selfwealth is not obligated and may not advise you of Corporate Actions of any entity which may be relevant to your Portfolio and you will not hold Selfwealth liable for any matter in relation to any Corporate Action, unless contributed to by our gross negligence, criminal conduct, fraud or wilful misconduct.

- c) If you wish to take action with regard to a Corporate Action then you may contact Selfwealth who may pass on your instructions to the Broker for actioning subject to the Broker Terms and Conditions. However, you acknowledge that Selfwealth reserves the right to take no action in relation to any Corporate Action where it is not reasonably practicable to do so such as receiving an invalid or incomplete instruction or where the issue has been closed or there is insufficient time to submit the instruction by the deadline. When certain Corporate Action events occur your Securities may be altered and we or the broker may need to amend or purge any open orders or restrict your ability to deal in those Securities or make other adjustments to your Account after the Corporate Action event has occurred, without notice to you.
- d) You authorise Selfwealth and/or the Broker to take other actions, on your behalf, as considered reasonably necessary to prevent any settlement failures or other irregularities in connection with a Corporate Action.
- e) You authorise Selfwealth and/or the Broker to take other actions, on your behalf, as considered reasonably necessary to prevent any settlement failures or other irregularities in connection with a Corporate Action resulting from a system or processing error which subsequently lead to the submission of an invalid order, which would result in a failure to meet ASX settlement obligations, including buying back securities, correcting holding and cash balances to return the portfolio to the correct holding position.
- f) Odd lot holdings are not supported on the Hong Kong securities exchange (HKEX). As such, the International Broker shall proceed to sell any odd lot balance you receive due to a Corporate Action. If an odd lot is sold on your behalf, you will receive confirmation of the trade and net proceeds will be credited to your International Cash Balance.

35. International Trade Service Instructions

- a) Selfwealth will act as agent solely within the parameters of your instructions received through the International Trade Service.
- b) Selfwealth may assume the authenticity of any instructions given or purportedly given through the International Trade Service by you or any person claiming to be your representative. Selfwealth is not obliged to enquire into any authenticity of instructions received through the International Trade Service and you authorise Selfwealth to act upon any instructions it reasonably believes to be authentic.
- c) Selfwealth reserves the right at all times to decline to accept your instructions through the International Trade Service where:
 - i) your instructions are ambiguous, incomplete or unclear;
 - ii) your instructions would result in a breach of the law;
 - iii) your instructions would result in a breach of the relevant exchange rules;
 - iv) it is not possible to place an order on the market;

36. Order Types

- a) Not all Order Types may be available across all markets, and some Order Types may not be available or offered on some exchanges.
- b) You agree to familiarise yourself with the available order types before commencing to trade on any of the Trade Services.

37. Advanced Orders

- a) IMPORTANT – The placement of contingent / conditional orders by you, such as “stop-loss” or “stop limit” orders, will not necessarily limit your losses, nor may the order be filled as intended by your instruction as market conditions or technological issues (including the unavailability of the conditional or contingent function because of technology failure) may make it impossible to execute such orders.
- b) Neither the International Broker or Selfwealth guarantee that any contingent or conditional order placed by you will be executed as you intend, or at all, or that the conditional or contingent order technology will always be available to you.
- c) Neither the International Broker or Selfwealth accepts any responsibility for losses as a result of the unavailability of the conditional or contingent order technology, or losses as a result of any conditional or contingent order placed by you that does not trade or fill as intended by your instruction, unless contributed to by our gross negligence, criminal conduct, fraud or wilful misconduct.
- d) You agree that any conditional or contingent order placed by you is subject to the International Broker's (PhillipCapital) Terms and Conditions and Selfwealth's Terms and Conditions.
- e) Once a condition is triggered, your order may be immediately filled, possibly at a price unfavourable to your original condition, and you agree it is not possible to cancel the executed order, regardless of the subsequent price action.

38. Responsibility for International Trade Service

- a) You acknowledge and agree that:
 - i) in addition to being bound by these Terms, you are bound by the International Broker Terms and Conditions when using the International Trade Service;
 - ii) you authorise the International Broker to provide information about the Advised Client Portfolio to Selfwealth.

 - v) You acknowledge you may incur additional costs (for example local stamp duties or commissions) for trades on certain international securities exchanges. These costs will be explained in the Terms and Conditions of the Broker on the particular international exchange you will be trading and may be in addition to the fees outlined in these Terms.
- b) To the greatest extent permissible by law, unless contributed to by our gross negligence, criminal conduct, fraud or wilful misconduct, you further acknowledge and agree that Selfwealth is not responsible (whether in contract, tort or otherwise) for any loss or damage caused or suffered by you to the extent that the loss or damage results from:
 - i) any defect in Selfwealth's computer systems that is beyond our reasonable control;
 - ii) any delay, fault, failure in or loss of access to an International Trade Service;
 - iii) an instruction from you to cancel or amend an order not being received and processed prior to your original order being filled. In these circumstances, you will accept the transaction on the original terms;
 - iv) telecommunications failure, delay, or interruption of or defective network or internet connections or services by a third party, including any defect in the Selfwealth Account or the International Broker's computer systems;
 - v) your incorrect operation of the International Trade Service;
 - vi) inaccuracy, error or omission in any material, data or information provided by you or any other third party through the International Trade Service;

 - viii) any delay, interruption, omission, failure, error or fault in the execution of your instructions provided through the International Trade Service;

Nothing in this clause 38 or elsewhere in these Terms is intended to limit or exclude our liability to the extent that any Loss, damage, Claim, cost or expense arises from our gross negligence, criminal conduct, fraud, wilful default or wilful misconduct.

39. Extended Hours Trading Risk Disclosure (U.S Markets Only)

- a) You should consider the following points before engaging in extended hours trading.
 - i) "Extended hours trading" means trading outside of "regular trading hours." "Regular trading hours" generally means the time between 9:30 a.m. and 4:00 p.m. (United States of America) Eastern Standard Time.
 - ii) Risk of Lower Liquidity. Liquidity refers to the ability of market participants to buy and sell securities. Generally, the more orders that are available in a market, the greater the liquidity. Liquidity is important because with greater liquidity it is easier for investors to buy or sell securities, and as a result, investors are more likely to pay or receive a competitive price for securities purchased or sold. There may be lower liquidity in extended hours trading as compared to regular trading hours. As a result, your order may only be partially executed, or not at all.
 - iii) Risk of Higher Volatility. Volatility refers to the changes in price that securities undergo when trading. Generally, the higher the volatility of a security, the greater its price swings. There may be greater volatility in extended hours trading than in regular trading hours. As a result, your order may only be partially executed, or not at all, or you may receive an inferior price when engaging in extended hours trading than you would during regular trading hours.
 - iv) Risk of Changing Prices. The prices of securities traded in extended hours trading may not reflect the prices either at the end of regular trading hours, or upon the opening the next morning. As a result, you may receive an inferior price when engaging in extended hours trading than you would during regular trading hours.
 - v) Risk of Unlinked Markets. Depending on the extended hours trading system or the time of day, the prices displayed on a particular extended hours trading system may not reflect the prices in other concurrently operating extended hours trading systems dealing in the same securities. Accordingly, you may receive an inferior price in one extended hours trading system than you would in another extended hours trading system.
 - vi) Risk of News Announcements. Normally, issuers make news announcements that may affect the price of their securities after regular trading hours. Similarly, important financial information is frequently announced outside of regular trading hours. In extended hours trading, these announcements may occur during trading, and if combined with lower liquidity and higher volatility, may cause an exaggerated and unsustainable effect on the price of a security.
 - vii) Risk of Wider Spreads. The spread refers to the difference in price between what you can buy a security for and what you can sell it.

40. Board Lots and Odd Lots (on the HK Securities Exchange only)

- a) You should consider the following points before engaging in trading on the Hong Kong securities market exchange (HKEX).
 - i) The term "board lot" is commonly used in Hong Kong's securities market to refer to a trading unit. While board lots are standardised on many exchanges at 100 shares, on the HKEX, it is determined by the issuer of the security and as such 'board lots' may be of differing sizes.

- ii) It is your responsibility to check the board lot size of a security before trading in the security and to remain aware of the board lot size for the securities you are trading, always.
- b) Securities of less than one trading unit (i.e. one board lot) is commonly known as an odd lot in Hong Kong. Odd lots are not accepted by the Hong Kong Exchange's trading system for auto-matching, but there is a special lot market in the system for odd lots trading. Your International Broker may post their odd lot orders onto a designated screen on the trading system for matching by other Brokers.
- c) It may be the case that the share prices quoted for odd lots will be less favourable than prices in board lot amounts in the same security, due to the reduced liquidity in the odd lot market.
